INDIAN AUDIT AND ACCOUNTS DEPARTMENT

OFFICE OF THE ACCOUNTANT GENERAL, MYSORE, BANGALORE.

Circular dated 21st September 1956.

No. P.V. 454—1956-57-Genl. A reference is invited to the instructions issued in Government Order No. Fl. (B) 3935-4034—Pen. 3-55-1, dated 30th June 1955 for the speedy disposal of pension cases and proper maintenance of service books of Government servants. It was suggested among other things, that in the case of persons still in service a programme of examination of their service records should be undertaken by all the heads of offices, priority being given in the descending order of age, with a view to determining the extent of temporary or officiating service counting for pension and making necessary entries in the service registers. But, from the service registers received in this office along with the pension papers of several departments it is seen that the necessary particulars regarding the temporary or officiating service rendered by the retired Government servants and whether such service counts for pension under the relevant rules or not are still generally wanting and consequently finalisation of the pension cases is unduly delayed. This omission in making the necessary entries appears to be partly due to the fact that the present form of the service register (Form No. I) prescribed under the Mysore Services Regulations does not provide for columns for making entries to indicate whether temporary or officiating service rendered prior to confirmation counts for pension under Articles 226 or 227, Mysore Services Regulations. Therefore, pending supply of revised form of the service register, all the heads of offices and departments are requested to see that additional columns as indicated in the Annexure to this circular are opened in manuscript in the Service Registers of all the non-gazetted Government servants in service at present and of those who have retired but whose pension records have not yet been sent to this office for verification, and necessary entries are made therein under due attestation. As action suggested above would go a long way in minimising the delay in the disposal of the pension cases, all the inspecting officers are also requested to ensure during their inspection of their subordinate offices that the instructions issued in this circular are complied with.

ANNEXURE.

Column 12 (a)	Column 14 (a)	Column 14 (b)
If the post is temporary, whether it was eventually made permanent and whether the service in it counts under Article 226, Mysore Services Regulations, quoting the authority and the date from which the post was made permanent if it was so made.	Nature of the vacancy i.e., whether substantive provisionally permanent, temporary, officiating on probation.	If officiating or on probation whether the service counts for pension under Article 227 and 229, Mysore Services Regulations. Full particulars as to how the vacancy arose and what became of the previous permanent incumbent should also be recorded.

B. VENKATARAMAN,
7231 Dy. Accountant-General.

Notification dated 10th October 1956.

Subject.—Custody of service books of Gazetted Officers.

No. GI. 14-17—983. A reference is invited to Art. 369, Mysore Services Regulations and Art. 174, Mysore Financial Code according to which the service book of a non-gazetted Government servant officiating in a gazetted post should be kept by the Head of the office to which he permanently belongs and when he is confirmed in such a post his service book should be forwarded to the audit officer who maintains the record of his service.

2. With regard to officiating gazetted officers the necessity for the forwardal of the service books to the audit office arises soon after their promotion for ascertaining the scale of pay and the date of increment in their substantive appointments. The leave accounts posted up to the date of promotion to the gazetted cadre have also to be sent for certifying the title to leave while in gazetted service. It would be for the head of the department to decide with reference to the lien of the non-gazetted servant in which office the service register of the officiating gazetted officer should be kept until he is confirmed. So far as the audit office is concerned the service register duly posted up to date together with the leave account duly attested may be forwarded by the head of the department soon after the promotion of the officer to the gazetted cadre. The service register will be returned to the head of the department himself after noting the relevant particulars and retaining the leave account.

3. The service registers of permanent Government servants should be sent to this office soon after their confirmation. Whenever service registers retained in this office are required for reference, a requisition for the register should be sent by the head of the department himself under his own signature. Requisitions signed by any other officer will not be acted upon.

4. Receipt of the service registers sent by this office at the request of the head of the department should be promptly acknowledged by the head of the department himself or an officer authorised by him. Service registers received in this office will be acknowledged by an officer of this office.

5. It is also necessary that the service registers of permanent gazetted officers which are obtained for reference are returned to this office as early as possible, as the responsibility for the custody of these registers devolves on this office. A period of 3 months would be the maximum time within which the service registers should be returned. The heads of departments are requested to keep track of the registers if they are sent to subordinate officers or to Government and arrange to return them as early as possible and, in any case, within the maximum period. If for any reason it is not possible to return the service register within a period of three months this office should be informed of the reasons for it and the earliest date when it would be returned. The responsibility for seeing that the service registers are finally returned to the audit office will devolve on the heads of the departments to whom they are sent.

6. The heads of departments are requested to send not later than the 31*st October* 1956 a list of all the service registers of all Gazetted officers which have yet to be sent to this office after completing them as indicated in Para 2 above. The service registers of permanent officers will be retained in this office while those of the officiating Government servants will be returned after noting the relevant particulars.
